

Fulcrum helps clients choose the right web analytics platform for their particular needs, design the site tagging strategy, and implement the tagging and dashboard reporting structure.

There are many valuable reasons for tracking web data:

- Understanding the appeal and clarity of website content
- Funneling traffic to specific calls to action
- Tracking campaign response
- Understanding geographic reach
- Measuring engagement among existing customers
- Identifying sources of web traffic
- Identifying search terms leading to site traffic

KEY BENEFITS

With more than 25 years of data science experience across a variety of industries - we know how clients want to use data and what makes a data asset valuable to them.

We are an end-to-end data science service provider. From tagging and tracking, to statistical data analysis, data engineering, and machine learning algorithms - we know the entire process from raw data to actionable results.

Whether you're a startup with potential to grow or a national company with more projects than you've got the bandwidth to support - we're ready to help you take your web analytics to the next level.

We are Privacy Shield Certified and work within the guidelines of HIPAA, the NYSDFS Cybersecurity Regulation, and all other applicable security frameworks.

Our Data Science Acceleration Team is a flexible, low-cost model to turn your data into actionable insights and decision triggers. We bring a mix of data scientists, engineers, and developers to client organizations, onsite as needed, to help solve data-intensive problems.
